This group was established in April 2007 for all those interested in ICT4D (Information and Communication Technologies for Development) - led by the ICT4D Collective and UNESCO Chair in ICT4D at Royal Holloway, University of London. It provides an opportunity for information sharing and networking amongst all those with interests in how ICTs can be used to contribute to 'development'.

Empowerment and Governance in the Information Society (II): digerati, goverati and the role of ICT4D edit | 3682

By Ismael Peña-López

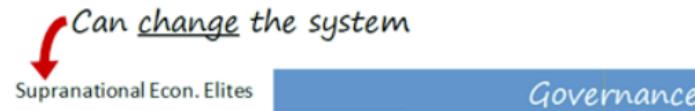

Main categories: e-Government, e-Administration, Politics | ICT4D | Information Society | Participation, Engagement, Use, Activism

Other tags: goverati
[comments: 3]

This is a two-part article on the power relationships and distribution in the Information Society. It first presents, in Empowerment and Governance in the Information Society (I): the hourglass of information power, some concepts as power, empowerment and governance, and how they have been distributed amongst citizens and institutions along ages. The second one, Empowerment and Governance in the Information Society (II): digerati, goverati and the role of ICT4D, reflects on how the quality of democracy is decreasing precisely because of an increase of citizen empowerment.

In Empowerment and Governance in the Information Society (I): the hourglass of information power we described a way to look at power, empowerment and governance, and ended up facing an odd distribution of power in the Information Society. A close up to that distribution may look like the following image:

Analyzing digital literacy with a single simple tweet edit | 3757

By Ismael Peña-López
Main categories: Digital Literacy
[comments: 7]

Two years ago, in Towards a comprehensive definition of digital skills, I depicted digital literacy according to five different categories, being those categories technological literacy, informational literacy, media literacy, digital presence and e-awareness (please see the paper From laptops to competences: bridging the digital divide in higher education for a thorough explanation about those concepts):

Like 18 people like this. Be the first of your friends.

If you need to cite this article in a formal way (i.e. for bibliographical purposes) I dare suggest:
